

Dear professors: Good morning, nice to meet you. It is my pleasure to have this opportunity for introducing myself.

My name is Jiaxun Yang. I am from Nanchang University and majoring in software engineering.

Next, let me introduce myself from learning ability, research achievements, and hobbies.

First of all, undergraduate students must lay a solid foundation in academic knowledge. Through my diligent study, my academic grade ranked third in 404. And I have won 7 honors such as special scholarship and national inspirational scholarship.

Secondly, I carried out some researchs on small object detection and followed some excellent one stage, two stage, anchor-based and anchor-free models.

In my spare time, I like playing basketball and photography very much through which I can meet the challenge better.

Above all, SIAT is my ideal place for further study! Finally, thank you very much for listening to my self introduction.
